the second day of the grand triennial conclave was the exhibition drill which was given at the grounds of the Washington baseball club, sempered as it was by rays of a warm autumn mn. The chilly wind, which swept through the grand stand, proved of little discomfort to merous speciators, a majority of whom were andsomely attired ladies. The bleaching sards were not crowded, although there was liberal sprinkling of on-lookers, basking in sun and admiringly applauding the grace-evolutions of commanderies taking part in The first organization to put in an appearance within the whitewashed diamond was Apollo Commandery, No. 15, of Troy, K. Y., marching over the level, green sward hith a precision of movement which surprised and pleased the assemblage. The commandand pleased the assemblage. The command-ery fell into hellow squares, triangles, circles and crosses with remarkable accuracy and ion, while the band, stationed at the recision, with the commandery part played martial airs. formed battalion front and marched firmly towards the grand stand, the occupants of which were liberal in their applause. A stord drill followed, and the fencing was of the highest order of merit. Again the ranks were formed, and the most attractive executions of the drill were made, marching in single file in a concentrated circle until the whole hedy of men stood statuesque in a solid mass. The appearance presented was very fine.

Again assuming battalion front, the commandery made a sword salute to the exhibition committee and retired, giving place to the Louisville commandery, too, 1 of Louisville, Kentucky, which as it marched into the enclosure thirty minutes late preceded by its military hand playing "My old Kentucky Home." It was greeted with generous applaus. The commandery, which had twenty seven knights in line, was dressed in regulation uniform. The music was furnished by bade belonging to the respective bodies participating in the drill. The marching and counter marching of this body was particularly fine. The several intricate evolutions of the drill were executed with an exactness that elicited almost constant applause from the spectators. The marching by battalion front and wheeling also, were vociferously applauded. The circles and hollow figures were finely formed. The sword drill was emitted from this drill. As the commandery marched off the drill ground, each member was presented with boutonnies by lady friends and admirers. To inspiring strains of "Dixie", DeMoiay commandery, No. 12, of Louisville, paraded in company front before the grand stand amid the plaudits of onlookers. Then the twenty-seven men forming the commandery and at the close of their evolutions were unique, its marching in double cross form and open ranks being especially effective. The drilling was perfection itself. The members of the organization moved with the accuracy of so many pieces of complicated machinery, and at the close of their evolutions they ranged in battalion front with drawn swords and received through th y Colonel Eugene Robinson, mounted, and ere escorted by color guard bearing the tars and stripes and the commandery banner. The drilling of this commandery was confined trictly to military movements, which were erformed in a seemingly faultless manner. The alignments and wheelings were something narvelous. Altogether, the command acquitted itself with great honor. The applause quitted itself with great honor. The applause which followed each masterly executed movement plainly showed that the Detroit commandery No. 1 had now the admiration of 1,000 spectators.

Although the commandery manauvered for more than an hour there was no weariness manifested by the spectators, and when, as a climax, the body ranged itself at swords' rest, and after performing the duties of dress parade, and after performing the duties of dress parade, theathed its weapons in a soldier-like manner and preceded by its band, resplendent in yel-low plumes, filling the air with the popular "Yankee Doodle," the enthusiasm was great.

Under escort of the De Molay, commandery of Louisville, the lads composing the "Little Commandery" of the Masenic home of that diy made their salutation. Their appearance and military bearing did credit to their training, and in a precision of step and fine evolutions they outdid many of the older and more exderienced organizations.

The elastic circle was an attractive feature of their drill, and the sword exercise was worthy of the high praise which was freely accorded it. No other organization participated in the drill, which was purely one for the purpose of exhibiting the degree of perfection in military maneuvers attained by templar commanderies. A small admission fee was exacted, and the receipts will be expended in Masonic charities.

TO THE COLORED PEOPLE. The Convention at Springfield Issues an Address to the Race.

Speingfield, Ill., October 9.—The state conference of colored men adjourned last evening after issuing an address to the colored people of the state and nation, which sets forth the object of the organization just effected to advance educational interests, the abolishment of separate schools and to secure the employment of competent colored teachers. After reviewing the condition of negroes in the south, the outrages to which they are subjected, and in that it is not a party or race question, but of national importance, the league makes the following appeal:

"We appeal to the American people, to congress and the executive head of the government, to men of all parties, to rise above partisan hate and bitter prejudice and bring to bear the majesty of the law to the end that life and property in Louisian and Mississippi, South Carolina, Georgia and Texas, shait be as and as in the northern states."

. ACCIDENT AT A GAS WELL. Iron Pipe Flying Through the Air Causes Death.

Кокомо, Ind., October 9.-А second accident in the history of the Kokomo gas belt occurred at Jerome, fifteen miles east of Ko-komo, on Monday night, in which Chusa Mormon was instantly killed; Frank Little had a leg broken, necessitating amputation; Hiram Overman had his skull fractured, and John Hogue probably fatally burned. A large crowd had gathered at this well, which is the crowd had gathered at this well, which is the strongest one in the state, to witness the gas display. Sixty feet of four-inch pipe was laid from the well terminating in a vertical elbow, four feet in height. The young man who applied the torch foolishly turned this elbow down to lie on the ground, and just as the gas ignited the tremendous force flung sixty feet of pipe around, striking and burning everything within its reach. A large number were injured, in addition to the above. Mr. Mormon was a preacher in the Friends sixty-five years of age, and an old resident in this county, and leaves a wife and five grown children. He was pinned to a wire fence by the end of the flaming pipe and roasted, being almost consumed,

MAHONE'S REAL SCHEME To Capture the Legislature and Win the Browney Va October 9 - [Special ]-The political contest is waxing warm here now. Mahone and his men are in the front ranks, and there seems to be no chance of retreat. It has become plainly to be no chance of retrent. It has become plainly evident now that the little man has no desire or hope of being the next governor of Virginia, but his pretended gubernatorial campaign is a curtain behind which he is silently and secretly canvassing for the majority in the next legislature. It has been clearly exposed to The Constitution's correspondent that he has upon several occasions authorized the republican leaders in some counties to say to the democratis that they, "the republicans," would vote for McKinney if the democrats would support the republican legislative nominee in that county. This is supposed to be one of the greatest secrets and deepest plots in the "little schemers' stratagems," and was accidentally exposed to the writer tonight. The republicans had a rally here last night, and nearly all the heretofore pretended kickers publicly expressed their desire to follow wherever Mahone should lead. Another rally of both sides will be held tonight.

The party were allowed to stop, and nobody turned out before 7 o'clock. At 8 o'clock the reception committee of the city council arrived. By that time the visitors had breakfasted, and after introductions they were taken in carriages through some of the principal streets and past some of the large manufacturers. They did not alight at any point. They returned to the station at 10 o'clock, and fifteen minutes later left for Williamantic.

THE MURDERER ARRESTED. An Alabama Murderer Brought Back From Tennessee.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., October 9.—[Special.]—
A. J. Goforth, who murdered J. J. Conway, near Gurleys, fin Jackson county, on the 31st of August, was arrested last Sunday night in Van Buren county. Tennessee, by J. C. Morgan, a Pinkerton detective, and lodged in jail here last night. Today he was taken to Scottsboro to await trial. He is about thirty-five years old, and sustains the character of a bad man. Conway is an old man. They were drinking and fought slightly over a bet; Goforth went home, took a nap, got up, loaded his shotgun and went back, met Conway in the road, told him he was going to kill him, and fired, striking him in the shoulders and neck. Conway was very drunk. His son offered one hundred dollars reward.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., October 9.—[Special.]—
The Western Union Telegraph company today purchased the private telegraph wires of the Georgia Pacific railroad between Atlanta and Columbus, Miss., and the right to operate lines along the railroad. The Western Union takes possession of the property next Monday, and will at once begin putting up four additional wires. Offices will be opened at all of the principal stations at once. The line is nearly 360 miles in length.

uties of the Protestant Episcopal church, this morning, immediately after assembly, received a message from the house of bishops announcing that the following joint committee on judicial systems had been appointed to consider the question in course of argument in the lower house relative to the formation of an appelate court. The committee consisted of the bishops of Texas, central New York, Pennsyl-vania and Kentucky.

The committee on the admission of new dioceses begged to be discharged from further and Michigan asking for the erection of a new diocese within the limit of each of those states. The committee could not recommend the advisability of granting the request and were, therefore, discharged.

Dr. McVicker, of Pennsylvania, offered a resolution inviting the house of bishops to join the house of deputies this afternoon in a memorial service in honor of the late Dr. Vail.

The report of the committee on conference with the house of bishops in reference to resolution eight was then taken up. Reso eight, which provided for the recitation of the litany after morning prayer on Sundays, Wed-nesdays and Fridays, and on ember days. The

Several days ago this resolution was adopted by the house of bishops, but when it came before the house of deputies it was rejected. The committee of conference was then appointed and this committee came back this morning and recommended the house of deputies to recede from the action it formerly took and adopt the resolution as passed by the house of bishops.

and adopt the resolution as passed by the house of bishops.

There was a long discussion over the manner of laying the matter before the house. Some deputies claimed that the matter could be brought before the house by reconsidering the vote already taken.

Finally Dr. Dix, who presided, ruled that the matter could be brought before the house in the form of a report of the committee of conference. The roll of diocesses was then called and it was found that there were only sighteen dioceses in favor of receding from their former action and thirty diocesses against it. Two diocesses were divided evenly in the votes of their deputies. So the house of deputies sent back the resolution to the house of bishops without its approval.

Discussion of the resolution giving clergymen an appeal outside of their dioceses, which was on when an adjournment was taken yes terday, was resumed.

After considerable discussion a vote was taken, and the resolution was tabled by a vote of 64 to 49.

of 64 to 49.

A recess was then taken.

After recess, debate on the amendment was continued. A Missouri deputy moved that a vote be taken at once. Another delegate moved to lay the question on the table so that the convention would have a better opportunity of considering it. This was defeated.

An amendment was then moved that the vote be taken on the question at twelve o'clock tomorrow (Thursday), and it was carried by f22 to 120.

FOUR SUCCESSFUL TESTS For Removing the Phosphorus From

Iron.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., October 9.—[Special.] Four successful tests were made today at the furnaces in this city of a chemical process for removing all phosphorus from iron and con-verting it into bessemer pig. Every test was pronounced a complete success by chemists and practical steel men engaged to witness them. The process has just been discovered by a Scotch chemist named Archibald, who is in the employ of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company. By this process the extra cost of converting the ores of this section into bessemer pig will be only fifty cents a ton. The success of the experiments has caused no little excitement in iron and financial circles

The Poultry and Stock Show Will Have a Novel Marriage on Alliance Day.

Athems, Ga., October 9.—[Special.]—The northeast Georgia stock and poultry show will welcome the visitors on November 12th, and to all whe come will be shown the best fair ever held in this section. The directors have secured many attractive features, and intend to give the people more than their money's worth, if good, energetic work will accomplish these ends.

Hon. Henry W. Grady, of Atlanta, is expected to open the fair with his matchless elo quence, and thousands will come from the surrounding counties to listen to the young Georgia orator.

Governor Gordon, Colonel Northen and Colonel Livingston will be urged to be present Georgia crator.

Governor Gordon, Colonel Northen and Colonel Livingston will be urged to be present and make speeches, besides other prominent Georgians.

It will be a fine day's joilification, and the farmers will celebrate the most bounteous year they have known for a long time.

But the most interesting part of the programme will be carried out on Alliance day, which is on Thursday of the fair week. The executive committee have decided to offer twenty-five dollars in gold to the couple that will get married at the fair ground on Alliance day in cotton bagging clothes, This will be one of the most novel sights ever witnessed in Georgia or any other state, if a couple can be found who will show their thorough appreciation of the farmers' fight on the jute trust to come out attired in the cloth in which the farmers' interests are all centered, and on alliance day be joined together in the holy ties of wedlock.

The premium lists will be issued from the Banner office tomorrow, and everything will be one unceasing effort from now until the gates of the fair are opened to make the exhibit one of the greatest ever made in this secten. The people are thoroughly aroused and enthusiastic, and will lend their every effort to the accomplishment of these ends.

THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE Reconsiders Its Resolution Limiting All

reconsidered its action of the day beart, which imited the communications with the lessees to writing.

Mr. Gienn introduced the following resolution, which was adopted:
Resolved by this committee:
That there shall be a written communication from the lessees or those representing them, covering the following points:

1. What claims do they make against the sate?
2. What are the tasis of such claims?
3. A statement of the number of engines, cars and other personal property received by the Western and Atlantic Railroad company from the states which said lessees can and will turn back to the state, with a full description.

4. What settlement or adjustment of such alleged claims do they wish to lay before this committee?
In connection with such written stetement, the lessees, or others representing them, may appear before the committee, and may submit other oral statement in explanation of or in vindiction of the said claims as upon the proposition of seitlement which they may wish to make, not exceeding two other than the president of said company.

Resolved 4th, That the oral explanation hereinbelore spoken of be limited to two hours for each gentleman who addresses the committee.

Resolved 5th, That upon agreement as to the time and place of meeting the chairman notify the committee and call the same together.

There was a good deal of warmth of feeling over this action, and Senator Bartlett, Dr. Felton, Mr. Harrell and Mr. Berner put their heads together to defeat these new tactics.

In the afternoon session Dr. Felton, Mr. Berner and Mr. Harrell got the house to adopt a resolution to the effect that it was the sense of the house that all communications of the conference committee with the lessees should be in writing.

While this action of one branch of the general assembly cannot bind a joint committee, the house members of the committee will hardly be willing to go against the sense of the body from which they were appointed. This will give a majority to first resolution limiting communications with the lessees to writing.

It is understood that the lessees have

It is understood that the lessees have already reduced their communications to writing and are ready to make answer to the committee on short notice. The conference committee adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman, and will probably meet again today. Yesterday's resolution was communicated to Senator Brown and Mr. Stahlman.

It looks like the labor of the committee will be very light and soon terminated.

WRITES A CARD IN RELATION TO GORDON P. KISER. STATEMENTS OF EYE-WITNESSES

He Charges the Journal With Suppressing His Correspondence—An Interesting Chapter to the Affair.

ATLANTA, Ga., October 9.—Editors of Constitution: To-day, between 11 and 12 o'clock, at the solicitation of the Evening Jurnal, I furnished to them the enclosed cards for publication. They received the same, and promised to have them appear in this afternoon's paper. When that paper was issued, I was surprised to find said cards omitted.

Immediately, going to the Journal office, I found Mr. H. H. Cabanias, the business manager of that paper. He informed me that on account of his friendship for Mr. M. C. Kiser, they being members of the same church, he had taken the responsibility of withdrawing my cards. The conversation, which followed between Mr. Cabanias, and myself, it is withdrawing my cards. The conversation, which followed between Mr. Cabaniss and myself, it is unnecessary to repeat, further than to say he apologized for his conduct, and admitted the wrong done me. I do not know what means were used to so influence Mr. Cabaniss. The cards, had been printed in the first edition of the paper, and, therefore the whole edition had been suppressed. This sneaking, underhand action of the Journal, or rather Mr. Cabaniss, is explained on the face. At the anction of the paper. I should have been verthe auction of the paper, I should have been per-mitted, at least, a bid. The president and manag-ing editor of the Journal seemed to have both been ruled by Cabaniss.

Now, Messis Editors, I must request that you publish the enclosed cards, and not allow them to be withdrawn by any one except myself. Respect fully,

ATLANTA, Ga., October 9th, 1889.—Editors Constitution: In yesterday morning's issue of your paper appeared a card from Mr. Gordon P. Kiser, in reference to a difficulty with me on the evening of the 6th inst. The matter at issue was strictly personal and private, but, as Mr. Kiser has deemed it necessary to wantonly inflict upon an unoffending public his communication, it is proper that I should say a few words in reply.

Soon after the appearance of my brief card, stating that there was no bending difficulty between us, Mr. Kiser commenced making false statements as to what had passed at a previous interview. These fabrications of his imagination were as false as they were grossly insulting to me. Hence, my note to him, which he published. To it he makes an evasive reply, and invites me to a meeting at his store. Seeing him in the Kimbal house, I politely requested a brief interview. After at first decliming, he finally stepped aside with me. I courteously asked if he had made the statements referred to. He declined to affirm or deny. He further stated, that he would consult his own piensure about discussing the matter with me, and on the plea of time, added, that he would not prolong the conversation. I replied that my piensure must also be considered, and I used language to him, which would conventionally, be termed severe. He held a stick in his left hand, and detecting a movement of the same, I knocked him down. He was arraned, I was not. The accompanying cards will show what occurred. It is best that these facts should be detailed by imparitial observers. A CARD FROM MR. ADAMS.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE CONSTITUTION: In yesterday morning's Constitution appears an article from Mr. Gordon Kiser, in which he says that "Mr. Jackson had circulated the report that he knocked me down and that I ran from him through the billiard room." Mr. Kiser decounced these states ments as faise. In justice to Mr. Jackson, I will any that his remarks, as quoted, are true. However, I will add, that from where I was standing, I could only see Mr. Kiser two-thirds of the way through the billiard room. As far as I saw him, he was running. Respectfully, Max Adams. Kiser and Thomas Cobb Jackson last Sunday afternoon. I was in the Kimbali house on that day, and hearing that there would be a difficulty if these two gentlemen met, and seeing both Kiser and Jackson in the hotel. I awaited developments. At about 5:20 p. m. Mr. Kiser came down the stairway and into the rotunda, and in prasing stopped to shake hands with me. While speaking to me, Mr. Jackson seipped up and requested an interview with Mr. Kiser. Kiser responded that he did not have time, as he had an engagement. Jackson said it would only take a minute, and Kiser went with him across the room to the corridor, that leads to the barbershops. Kiser stood with his back to the wail, and Jackson directly in front of him. They conversed in a quiet manner for some three or four minutes and I began to think there would be no trouble Jackson then struck Kiser in the face, k ocking him back against the wall, and then Kiser fell forward on his face on the floor. Kiser raised himself on his hands and knees and then sprang to his feet and ran down the corridor to the billiard room, and through it, attempting to draw something from his side overcoat pooket as he ran, What it was I could not tell, Kiser was facing Jackson when he was struck, but I do not remembet the position of his hands, nor do I know whether he was leaning against the wall when struck if was present in the interest of neither of the parties, and was a mere disinterested spectaror.

ATLANTA, Ga., October 9.—To the Editors of The Constitutions: Although I am in no way interested in the recent difficulty between Mr. Thomas Gobb Jackson and Mr. Gordon Kiser, yet, in justice to Mr. Jackson, I desire to say that I reached the arcade of the Kimbail house, within a very few minutes after that difficulty. There seemed to be some excitement, and the crowd was discussing this difficulty, which had just occurred. Every one was repeating the same account, which was, that after a short conversation, Mr. Jackson had knocked Mr. Kiser down, and he, jumping up, had run through the billiard room and out, with a pistol in his hand, I heard somejof the warmest friends of Mr. Kiser make this statement. Of course, I would not like to give the names of these gentlemen, unless it became absolutely not safety.

I will explain my appearing in this matter in this way. Mr. Jackson, stace the difficulty, heard me make the above statement to friends, and requested me to give it to the public. Respectfully.

Those Headlines.

On Monday last the Macon Telegraph published an account of the difficulty between Mr. Tom Cobb Jackson and Mr. Gordon Kiser at the Kimball Sunday afternoon. The telegraphic account was introduced by headlines which were particularly offensive to Mr. Jackson's friends. On yesterday the Telegraph says editorially.

"In Monday's issue of the Telegraph the headlines of an Atlanta dispatch reflected with unnecessary severity upon Mr. T. C. Jackson. The body of the dispatch did not warrant them, and the Telegraph regrets their publication."

He Gets a Pardon.

Governor Gordon yesterday commuted the sentence of Isaac L. Sellers to the time he has served. Sellers was convicted October 5th, 1885, in Appling county of attempted rape and was sentenced to ten years in the peniteutlary. The women who softered from the attempt has recently signed an affidaty that Sellers was not the guilty man and that she had been hired by Ben Williams, the real criminal, to accuse Sellers. The prosecuting attorney and many of the citizens of Appling county signed the petition.

A YOUNG LADY KILLED.

From the Marietta, Ga., Journal.

The Marietta accommodation, No. 17, in charge of Engineer Tom Bussey and Conductor Will Turner, killed Miss Hattle Segars, at Ruff's sideling, on the Western and Atlantic railroad. It seems that No. 20 passenger train, which passes Marietta at 5:30 a. m., was behind time, which caused No. 5 northbound freight train to have to wait at Gilmore for No. 20 to pass. This delay caused No. 5 to have to stop af Ruff's and take the sidetrack, to allow Marietta accommodation train to pass, No. 5 usually reaching Marietta before it leaves. Mr. John Segars is brakeman on No. 5, and his sister, Miss Hattle Segars, 14 years old, came down to the train as usual to bring man on No. 5, and his sister, Miss Hattle Segars, 18 years old, came down to the train as usual to being her brother his lunch basket. She did not think of the Marietta train, and stepped from the sideling to the main track. About this time the Marietta accommodation came along and struck Miss Segars, knocking her in the air as high as a box car. Sho fell on her back, off the track, and she had her arms and legs broken and otherwise fatally injured. She lived a short while after the accident occurred. The New Street Car Line Will Soon be Run

The Western Atlanta Street Car company

The Western Atlanta Street Car company is anxious to begin work.

The company's intention is to supply facilities of transportation to those who have not hitherto envioyed them, and will build a line from the Broad street bridge along South Broad to Alabama, up Alabama, by The Construction office and along Forsyth to Cooper and from Cooper to Richardson, following Richardton to McDaniel and to the city limits.

Another line begins at Broad street bridge and, going out Forsyth, turns up Peters street to Thompson, from Thompson along Chapel to Tatnail and by way of West Hunter to the city limits.

A third line goes up the railroad to Foundry and across to and up Luckie to John street, to Arthur, to West Hunter and back to the tity limits.

The other line is projected up Forsyth to Church street, and thence to Ellis, going down to Caihonn and up to Forrest avenue. From there the route is back to Ivy street and down to the Markham house, covering a territory not therefore included in the street car lines of the city.

The company does not propose to conflict with

e Berner Balloon Bursts and He Pinally Pulls Out His Last Substitute—Mr. Olive Has Still Another.

The house had up the Olive bill again yesterday, and it will continue on it today.

It is probable that a vote will be reached during the day, but even the friends of the measure nitted that defeat is staring them in

Mr. Berner has at last withdrawn his much talked of and badly abused substitute, and has retired to the ranks of the Olive bill knights, after having vigorously pushed to the front as their captain.

But he probably got tired of the prospect, and once more Mr. Olive poses as the leader.
But not of the original bill.

Nor the first substitute,

Nor any of the others up to the fifth. This time he has a brand, spanking new substitute, and it comes in as about No. 6.

For a day or two they have been coming in with lightning rapidity, Mr. Olive and Mr. Berner alternating to see which could get in Berner comes in with another one today, sub. No. 6 will be considered by the house.

This substitute is just in line with the legislation sought to be enacted by the others, except that instead of the outright forfeiture feature it provides that the punishment to be inflicted shall be a fine of $5,000 a day, which makes the bill no less objectionable than any of its long line of substitutorial antecedents.

The speech of yesterday was that of Mr. Lamar, of Richmond, and a more brave con-vincing speech has not been delivered in this

He demonstrated that his position is simply impregnable, and its effect was at once apparent on the house. Major Rawls, of Effingham, made a strong speech against the bill, and Mr. Olive and Mr. Hill, of Meriwether, spoke for it. The discussion will be resumed this morning.

Details of the Debate. Mr. Olive, the author of the original bill and two of the substitutes, concluded his argument two of the substitutes, concinded his argument yesterday foregoon.

He defined a monopoly, suiting the definition of the West Point Terminal company. He said that the case of the Terminal owned 4,000 shares of Central stock, or more than balf, as well as a controlling interest in the East Tennessee. He dwelt upon the evils of consolidated power, its quasi protection by the interstate commerce law-by limiting the power of the state commission—and the tendeucy of such condition of affairs towards centralization and the deof affairs towards centralization and the deor amars towards centralization and the destruction of state sovereignty.

The combination—the Terminal—he said, would grow stronger and more complete, until it was able to throttle the commerce of the entire state. What railroad, he asked, would entire state. What railroad, he asked, would lease the Western and Atlantic with such a lawless and powerful rival to contend with for sustenance?

Mr. Berner then announced that he would withdraw his substitute for the Olive bill. Mr. Olive then sent another substitute to be desk—the second one that he (Mr. Olive) He stated, however, that he withdrew his

MR. LAMAR, OF RICHMOND, made a remarkably sound and forcible speech-one of the very ablest made on any subject in the house this session.

"The opponents of this bill," said he, "could ask no better justification of their course than the fact that the friends of the original Olive bill have practically admitted the impropriety of its passage, and have offered substitute after substitute, each differing and all more or less an attempt to correct some detect in the original bill. There are now on the table the original bill. There are now on the table the Olive bill, a substitute by the gentleman from Floyd, one by the gentleman from Monroe, one by the author of the original bill, and he has this moment offered still another. Why? It must be that these friends of the measure, to gether with Mr. Olive himself, are of the opingether with Mr. Olive himself, are of the opinion that the bill as first introduced and urged for adoption was wrong in something, and that, in some respects at least, the opponents of the bill were right. We are surely right in opposing the bill if the author virtually abandons it and offers first one and then another substitute, each radically differing from that proposed last winter.

Yet, on the first appearance of antagonism to this bill there were mutterings of disconnictions.

to this bill, there were mutterings of discon-tent, even suggestions that no one could oppose it without violating the oath of office. conflict with the spirit of the constitution of Georgia. It was, and is now, claimed, that that constitution demands the passage of a bill like this, that we are sworn to pass some bill like this, that we are sworn to pass some legislation of that character. So persistent has this argument been, that very good people believe it. Good men in this house have confessed that they disapprove of the provisions of the bill, have admitted that the forfeitures, the putting in the hands of receivers, the tak ing of the property away from the owners, the forfeiture of the charter, was not right; but, say they, we must do something. The constitu-tion concludes that article, or chapter, on this subject with the words:

"The legislature shall enforce the provisions of this article by appropriate legislation," and we must obey.

Even if they were right, it says "appropriate legislation," and are bound to see to it that any bill offered is appropriate and commends itself to their wisdom and judgment exactly as any other bill. But when you realize that the germinal idea of the Olive bill is to forfait charters for a violation of certain to forfeit charters for a violation of certain laws, it can be shown to any fair man that the laws, it can be shown to any lair man that the makers of the constitution of 1877 have, by their express action, said they were opposed to the Olive bill. This legislature can pass it. It has the power to do so. It can pass any law that it is not actually forbidden to pass either by the constitution of the United States or that of Georgia, and I admit that this body has the Georgia, and I admit that this body has the authority to work the provisions of this bill into a law if it sees fit. But I deny that we are required to do so by anything in the organic law of the state. This is important to be borne in mind, because probably one-half of those who favor this bill do so on the idea that the constitution de mands it. So far from that being true, it is probably one-half of those who favor this bill do so on the idea that the constitution de mands it. So far from that being true, it is that as a matter of fact when the substance of the Olive bill was offered in the constitutional convention, proposing like it to let everybody that wanted institute proceedings to forfeit the charters of railroads and other corporations it was voted down, and for the very reason we here oppose the Olive bill. General Gartrell urged that a law like that would lead to blackmail, to injurious and vicious legislation. He was prophetic, for that very injurious legislation is before us today. The argument as to blackmailing was so effective in the convention that Judge Willis offered an amendment to the proposed section in which he provided that after indictment by a grand jury proceedings could be instituted to forfeit. If that had been adopted, I admit we ought to pass the Olive bill. But if it was defeated—as defeated it was overwhelmingly—then you ought to vote against the Olive bill, when you appeal to the spirit of the constitution to guide you. The Olive bill is but an elaboration of the principle embodied in that proposed and defeated section, and if that little section of four lines was too strong, too radical, too violent for the framers of the constitution what would they say of this bill!

But the friends of the bill say what are you going to do with the monopoly clause of the constitution? Let us see what it says and how it came to be put there. The Central railroad had bought a majority of the stock of the old Atlantic and Gulf railroad. Collins asked for an injunction to keep the Central Inform completing the trade. The supreme court sustained him because the Central had no power to buy the stock under its charter. If it had been authorized by its charter to buy the stock or to make a contract the court said it would have permitted the trade to go on. Now, General Toombs represented Collins, he won the suit, and I call your attention to the fact that he won a suit preve

Central or some other road to buy stock and make contracts of consolidation. He knew, as all lawyers knew, that the underlying principles of the common law are able to cope with any such questions, for without a statute and on those principles he had won that case and lest that satisfactory old law should be changed be got the constitutional convention to insert a restriction on the legislature that "the general assembly shall have no power to authorize one corporation to buy stock in another, nor to make any contract, the effect of which is to lessen competition, and all such contracts shall be illegal and void," even if the legislature does authorize it. The whole paragraph is a prohibition. It forbids. The legislature shall not! It is restrictive; and while we can pass this law because we have the power, that clause, by no sort of twisting, can be turned into a command that we do something or anything. General Toombs was afraid of legislatures, and all he wanted was to keep the law as it was. We observe the constitution as to that section by remembering that it says that the legislature shall not authorize. Until we do authorize we are asfe. If we do authorize we violate the constitution, but the authority and all contracts under it become by virtue of the constitution illezal and void.

authority and all contracts under it become by virtue of the constitution illegal and void.

If these conclusions are correct we are under no moral coercion as to this bill. We approach it just as we do any other and can discuss it and consider it as any ordinary bill.

Without follier that we are inverserat we can Without feeling that we are irreverent we can examine it and discuss its details. The bill and the five or six friendly substitutes are too long to discuss at length. It is enough to know they are all near skin. The original bill forfeits a charter in the first instance, the Berner substitute later. The original bill and all the substitutes, I believe, provide for anyall the substitutes. I believe, provide for any-body instituting proceedings, taking the prop-erty out of the hands of the majority, fining the majority stockholders and the board of directors, taking away all right to vote the stock owned by the majority if they own stock in a competing road, putting the road in the hands of a receiver. It is safe to say no simi-lar hill was over passed by any legislative hold: lar bill was ever passed by any legislative body lar bill was ever passed by any legislative body on the face of the earth.

Take the Georgia railroad for example, as to how it would work—and I take that because many of my constituents own stock in that road. Since the lease, so far as I know, there has been no cause of public complaint—the service has been as good or better, rates lower, time faster—the public are as well and cheaply served as before the lease.

Yet, you propose to let anybody, no matter and cheaply served as before the lease.

Yet, you propose to let anybody, no matter what his motive use this tremendous engine of power to blackmail that company and those who own stock in it. Suppose he wants to depress the price of its stock. He announces that he proposes under this bill to get permission to institute a suit to set aside the lease, to forfeit the charter of the Georgia railroad and of the Central. What is the result? Capital is timid; people don't know what the courts will decide. Many fear to run the risk, and they begin to sell at a loss, the stock goes down, widows and small stockholders in great fear begin to sell at reductions—ten, twenty, twenty-five per cent. And for whose benefit? After it is all over freights are exactly the same, passenger fare the same. Be the same, passenger fare the same. Be fore and after the suit the rates fore and after the suit the rates are all fixed by the commission, and the net result of the Olive bill is damage to the timid and absolutely no good to the public. A greater lever was never furnished a man who wanted to depress the price of stock, and that it would be used is as certain as human who wanted to depress the price of stock, and that it would be used is as certain as human nature remains the same.

I cannot believe that this house will pass such a law, or that any body of men can regard it as "appropriate legislation."

Will its passage make anybody who doesn't own any want to invest in railroads. Won't its passage make people who own railroad securities want to sell them. If that be the result as to existing roads who will invest in new ones and where will come the money to develop the state's waste places and open up the mines and forests of Georgia.

Mr. Speaker, the makers of the constitution looked to the regulation of railroads by a commission as the solution of the problem. It has worked well; and I am, as the result of observation and no little study, the unfaltering friend of that commission. I voted for the joint rate bill because it enlarges the powers of that body, and I will always vote to give it any needed power. But I cannot vote for a measure that harms the roads, does no good to the public, and puts in the hands of designing men who will use it for evil, a lever that can crush the poor and weak stockholder as well as the large ones.

We have fought the fight with railroads and

We have fought the fight with railroads and won—they are in the grasp of the law; the very danger of the passage of this bill shows that at a moment's notice we can annihilate them; they are common carriers, public servants, that we rule and govern as we please;

vants, that we rule and govern as we please; let us see to it we are not unkind masters nor unwise rulers.

MAJOR RAWLES, OF EFFINGHAM, followed in a strong speech opposing the bill.
"I am opposed to the original bill," said he,
"and to all the substitutes. This movement is an unjust and an unwise fight upon the railroads, the most useful and potent factor in the development of Geogra—past, present and

Major Rawles then pointed out that the taxable values of railroad property in the state aggregated $34,219,457, paying $136,877 taxes, employing over 13,000 native Georgians, and paying them as salaries over $14,000,000 annu-

"Two words made their way into the dic-"Two words made their way into the dictionaries about the same time," said Major Rawles. "They had opposite purposes. The first was 'sheol', to soothe and conciliate the sensitive nerves of people who couldn't bear the idea of a burning lake and sure-enough brimstone. The other word was 'monopoly', a word to distract and horrity-people with. This cry of 'monopoly'! reminds me of the two fellows who got out of money and finally hit upon this scheme to fill their pockets—they advertised that they had a number of rare and remarkable animals, and that they would exadvertised that they had a number of rare and remarkable animals, and that they would exhibit in a certain hall on a certain day. The hall was crowded. The fellows got hold of the gate receipts, and just when the performance was to have been begun one of them rushed out on the platform and began shouting wildly: 'For God's sake ladles and gontlemen, save yourselves. The great Guy-as-cutus is broke loose!' The people stampeded in terror, and the fellows got off with the money.

That's what the cry of 'monopoly' reminds me of—the politicians howling 'monopoly!'

That's what the cry of 'monopoly' reminds me of—the politicians howling 'monopoly!' They are out of home issues and they must have something to excite the people on.

Are we going to be stampeded by this political guy-as-cutus?

Major Rawles then took the case of his own county, Effingham.

Colonel Fry's road was surveyed to go through there. The people of the whole county were euthused, and subscriptions more than enough poured in. Then the Olive bill was introduced. The scheme was paralyzed. Capital is timid everywhere, and capitalists are not going to risk their money in the shadow of a danger like thet.

He had taken this particular instance simply because he was most familiar with it, but there were scores such cases in the state—rail-road enterprises paralyzed by the possibility of the passage of any such measure.

He repeated his hope and belief that the bill and all its substitutes would be voted down.

bill and all its substitutes would be voted down.

MR. HAREIS, OF FLOYD,

spoke in support of the bill.

The argument that the legislature had not passed any such measure had, he said, no weight with him. He proposed to put his own interpretation on the language of the constitution. The constitution, he said, was mere than a negation. It declared that such combinations were illegal and void, and the call was positive and mandatory to so make them by the practical enforcement of appropriate legislation. He took one instance in which a low passenger rate on the Western and Atlantic had lowered the rate on the East Tennessoe, and enlarged upon this to show the advantage of competition.

MR. HILL, OF MERIWETHER,

MR. HILL, OF MERIWETHER,

made a strong speech in favor of the bill.

He claimed that the opposition were "trying to laugh the bill out of the house," and that this was unfair tacties and could have no effect on so patriotic a body as the house. He said the constitutional provision was mand-tory, following the line of Judge Harris's argument. No railroad was on trial, he said.

It was not necessary that the support of the bill should rest on the assertion that the law had been violated. Should the law wait until a man is murdered to make it unlawful to carry concealed weapons? The bill, he continued, was not as severe as the present commission law which gave no appeal from the decision of three men. Mr. Hill will conclude his argument today.

Mr. Hill will conclude his argument today.

The following resolution, introduced in the house yesterday aftermoon by Judge Harrell, of Webster, is responsible for a small sized sensation:

"Resol ved, That it was the intention of the house, in the resolutions appointing a joint committee to confer with the less-ess of the Western and Atlantic Railroad company, to confine the duties of said committee only to receive from said lessees a full and complete statement of the matters contained in said resolutions, for transmission to the house, and that said e-minites be instructed to receive said statement in writing so that in a matter of such importance there can be no mistake or misunderstanding."

understanding."
Judge Harrell explained briefly that there was a difference of opining in the committee as to the extent of their power, and asked an expression of the house as to their intention in creating the com-difference of opinihn in the committee as to the extent of their power, and asked an expression of the house as to their intention in creating the committee.

Mr. Smith, of Gwinnett, thought the resolution was a discourteous and altogether unnecessary affair reflecting upon the members of the committee. He thought the committee capable of interpreting the resolution under which they were appointed. Mr. Berner explained the difference of opinion existing in the committee. Some, he said, thought the committee had no power but to receive a letter from the lessees, and then transmit that letter to the house. Others believed that the committee had power to investigate, and hear the representatives of the lessees. He wanted the house to pass the resolution.

Mr. Gleun, of Whitfield, opposed the resolution. Mr. Gleun, of Whitfield, opposed the resolution could give two hours each to an oral hearing of not exceeding three representatives of the lessees, giving in full that side of the case. A minority—which included Mr. Harrell, Mr. Berner and Mr. Felton—believed the powers of the committee were mechanical, and that all they could do was receive and transmit a letter.

Mr. Felton spoke briefly for the resolution. Mr. Simmens opposed it.
Six members of the committee had spoken—three on each side. The house passed the resolution by a vote of 82 to 41.

Messrs. Smith, of Gwinnett, Glenn, of Whitfield, and Simmons, of Sumter, stated that they would resign if any such resolution was passed.

There was a lot of consultation on the matter afterwards, and considerable pressure brought to bear against their resignation from the committee. All three gentlemen agreed to wait until this morning before taking definite action. Mr. Johnson, of DeKalb, is also considering the propriety of withdrawing from the committee.

It was understood last night that the majority of the committee, and that the resolution of Judge Harrell construction of the original resolutions—would quietly ignore the action of the house yesterday.

MR. HERRINGTON REPLIES

To Instructions Which Don't Fit His Judg-Hon. Alfred Herrington, the member from Emanuel county, received a letter of instructions from his county asking him to support the "Oliff" bill, or some of its substitutes. His reply, as follows, is furnished The Cox-tions from his county asking him to support the "Oliff" bill, or some of its substitutes. His reply, as follows, is furnished THE Constitution for publication:

CAN'T SEE IT THAT WAY.

J. K. Lewis, Esq. Secretary Farmers' Alliance of Emanuel County, Georgia: Dear Sir-Your favor of the 7th instant, with inclosed resolution of Emanuel County Alliance, asking me to support a substitute for the Olive bill now pending in the legislature, etc., is before me.

Permit me to say that my highest pleasure is found in gratifying my friends, and it is, indeed, my ambition to carry out the wishes of my constituents; but there is a higher duty than either of these devolving upon me, and that is to guard the best interests of the people.

I am where I hear the evidence and read the law. I am acting under oath, while my constituents are not, and I respectfully submit that, having heard the testimony, I must be controlled by my conscience and my judgment. Your resolutions request me to "support any measure or substitute to the Oliff bill"—I say "Oliff bill" because you spell it that way yourselva, thus showing conclusively that you have not read the Olive bill enough to understand its intents and purposes. Now, if you do not understand enough about the bill to know that Olive, and not "Olim," Introduced it, then you do not know enough about its contents to dictate to anyone about it. True, there is a difference of opinion about the bill, but that difference should be left with the sworn jurors who are to try it. When you are serving as a sworn juror to pass upon the guilt or innocence of one of your citizens, or to adjust a financial difference between them, what would you think of me were I to meddie with your deliberations, and dictate to you what sort of a verdict you should find? True, I am a public servant and hold my piace by the will of the people, but not in that sense that makes one a pliable tool, a veritable ence between them, what would you think of me were I to meddie with your deliberations, and dietate to you what would have me support the Olive bill, is the names of four men. These men meet at some place in secret conclave, and there take it upon themselves to dictate to me in my representative capacity.

Now, I would ask which must I vote for? The original Olive bill, Mr. Olive's substitute, or one of the many other substitutes? Mr. Olive himself is so uncertain about the matter that he has been trying to come down off the house top easily by a sixth substitute to his original bill.

Let us see what has been done in railroad legislation by this body. We have passed an act to tax railroads by counties, which will add about thirty-five hundred dollars more to the treasury of Emanuel county. We have passed a joint-rate law, thus placing Swainsboro on the same footing with blaces on a trunk line. I voted and worked for both of these measures, but when it comes to the Olive bill it is time to call a halt. Already Georgia bonds and sureties have depreciated in New York by reason of hostile legislation in this state, and I do not hesi state to say that not another dollar of northern money will come into this state as long as we threaten them with such legislation.

Never in the history of this country has there been an era of such prosperity as we are now blessed with.

I have been accused of turning over to monopolles, but should I vote or the Olive bill I would feel that I would be handing my country over to the enemy indeed. I have no fight to make on the alliance. If it be true that they are what they purport to be, it is a good thing. I am told my best friends are among its members. I am further informed that nearly, two-thirds of the country petitionel me, vote for the Olive bill or any of its substitutes. I would not do it, if it must be done at the expense of my own convictions. What you might term stubornness on my part may forever consign me to polivical oblivion in my country, but I prefer to sink in the lead-of an enlightened conscience than float in the wake of a smothered and beclouded conviction, and if upon th

"Captain J. C. Possey, a prosperous and highly respected citizen of this place, had been afflicted with erysipelas for forty years, being under treatment for nearly the whole of that time without beneficial results. He finally put himself under my treatment, and I exhausted and permanent cure. His wife, Mrs. Nancy Possey also contracted the disease, and was afflicted of blood poison and rheumatism, and in every case obtained the best results. As a rule I do not approve of the use of proprietary medicines, but am satisfied that the sooner the medical profession introduce Swift's Specific (S. S. Wind Sets in Right for a Disastrons Fire -Arrangements to Keep Up the Ship-ment of Cotton.

TANNAH, Ga., October 9.-[Special.]-The hydraulic and the Tyler cotton compress their sheds and 4,000 bales of cotton, their sheds and 3,000 bales of cotton, as burned this merning. A watchman distributed the fire in the lower press on Bayest, east of Randolph, at 2 o'clock. All of nes in service were called out, but the had a strong headway before they got to spot. A brisk breeze was BLOWING FROM THE WEST.

ything was very dry and the fire swept m yard to yard rapidly. The wharf front-was over five hundred feet and the depth ay street was about two hundred and fifty. of By street was about two hundred and fifty. For three hours all of that space, two acres and shalf, was ablaze. Three vessels, the Mapier, the Cypress and the Carlton, all British steamships, were lying at the wharves in front of the burning buildings and yards. For a long time the Carlton was in rest danger. One side was blistered, and the lower part of one of her gang planks was burned. All of the cotton oh the wharves took fire. Of all the 4,000 bales there will be sarcely any salvage. Even the ashes are howing away. All of the property was inhowing away. All of the property was inhowing away. All of the property was inside the same and the same and the property was intended and the same and the same and the property was intended at something like $75,000 and the halddings are protected. The local companies do not lose anything, scarcely, and of the cotton, perhaps none was held by factors, all being in the hands of the exporters.

THE DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY TAS heavy, but fortunately Savannah's facilities are such that in a few days arriving cotton will be handled with as much dispatch as effer. The Cotton Press association will put the upper compress in service fight away, if not tonight, sometime tomorrow. The Central will have the capacity of the Central (the old Gordon press) increased to 200 bales per hour in a day or two. Another gess is being put up by the Central on the old materworks tract, and will be ready for work by November 1.

by November 1. General Manager Gabbett, of the Central, General Manager Gabbett, of the Central, wired instructions to Macon this morning to compress all the cotton arriving there. The pleases at Columbus, at Montgomery, Eufaula, Albany, Americus, Atlanta, Macon, and Augusta lave been compressing nearly all of the cotton bound here from the west of a line drawn between Augusta and Albany. Only ONE-THIRD OF SAVANNAH'S RECEIPTS come uncompressed. By tomorrow night the facilities here will be great enough to compress double the quantity which comes uncompressed. The Central press, by running neompressed. The Central press, by running ght and day, will be able to compress 4,800 uncompressed. The Central press, by running algebraic day, will be able to compress 4,800 hales in twenty four hours, if necessary, or more than comes here daily to be pressed. All along Bay street the cotton men say that the fire will not cost Savannah a bale in receipts. Some friction is expected for a few days. The ships which were waiting to load at the burned presses will have to move to other berths, but there is plenty of cotton to fill them.

THE BURNED BUILDINGS,
which were not old, will be rebuilt. No one gives a satisfactory explanation of the origin. The exporters who owned the burned cotton are Messrs. Duckworth, Turner & Co., J. J. Wilder & Co., Charles Green's Son & Co.; Barnett & Cohen and Mr. Twitchell. The total loss is four hundred thousand dollars.

STABBED TO DEATH.

James H. Gay Meets Death in Colquitt County. Tr Tr, Ga., October 9.—[Special.]—News has just reached here that James H. Gay was stabbed by James Eady at Moultrie, in Colquitt county, from which Gay died at once. It seems that Gay had been drinking, and had alsed several fuses, and when he went onto Eady be expected to whip him easily. Gay was a noto-rious party in that county, having been convicted a few years ago for sheep killing at Moultrie, and escaped from the sheriff after the jury had returned with their verilet. Six months afterwards be came up to court again, and was sentenced by the jage. He lay in jail six months, and finally got a new trial, which is pending yet. Gay has been in several bad scrapes, and was considered a desperate man.

A Child Scalded to Death.

A Child Scalded to Death.

TAYLOR. Ga., October 9.—[Special.]—The mant child of Mr. and Mrs. Berry Arnold came to an untimely death yesterday under very peculiar circumstances. The mother had stationed her babe upon a blanket in the cook room, as was her usual custom, and was busily engaged in preparing dinner for the family, when she lifted a kettle of boiling water off the stove, taking hold of the handle without a cloth covering. She had scarcely removed the same from over the stove oven before the scorching pain became too great for her to bear, and forced her to let it fall to the floor, the contents covering the child. the flor, the contents covering the child, which had crawled, unnoticed, up to where its mother was standing at the stove. The little one lived but a short while. Mrs. Arnold is in deep grief, and has the sympathy of the entire community.

Escaped Through the Window.

Sayannah, Ga., October 9.—[Special.]—Robert Williums, deputy sheriff of Lowndes county, left Valdosta yesterday for Savannah, having in charge a white man named Davis, charged with forgery, and who was to be lodged in Chatham county jail. After leaving Jesup, Davis requested permission of his custodian to go into the lavatory. He got the permission, was unmanacled, entered the cabinet and jumped out of the window while the train was running forty-five miles an hour. Tain was running forty-five miles an hour. Nothing has been learned of him since. He was not missed for several minutes. He committed forgery in Laurens and Bulloch counties.

THE MURDER OF DANIEL W. M'RENNON, on the 31st day of January last. The trial commenced on the 25th day of September and ended on the night of the 2d of October. Much interest was taken in the trial by the people of Stewart and Chattahoochee counties. Mr.
McKennon lived in Stewart. Both were young men and well connected and stood well in their communities. The prosecution was pressed with egergy and ability, and no stone was left unturned by the defense. The argument upon the part of the state was opened by Solicitor General A. A. Carson, who made a strong speech of an hour and thirty minutes. He was followed by Mr.
Eugene J. Wysen in an argument of the same length. Mr. Wysen presented

Willie Williams, Colored, to Hang Novem ber 8. CORDELE, Ga., October 9.—[Special.]—Willie Williams, the murderer of Conductor Bartow Whigham, was carried to Americus from Abbeville this morning. He is to be confined in Sumter's jail until November 8, when he will pay the penalty of his crime on the gallows. He was tried at the special term of the superior court of Wilcox county Monday, and found guilty of murder. Judge Roberts presided, and fixed the date of his execution on November 8. The crime is too recent and norrible to have been forgotten by the public. While in the discharge of his duty Conductor killed instantly, by the negro Williams. The train was in motion at the time. The country was greatly excited over the affair, and almost every man in Wilcox and Dooly counties joined in the hunt for the murderer. He was captured by Sheriff Holder, of Stewart, and confined in Sumter county jail.

THE NEW LAW

Under Which Wilkes County May Have to Under Which Wilkes County May Have to Drink Her Liquor.

Washington, Ga., October 9.—[Special.]

—The new liquor law for Wilkes county forbids the sale, except in Washington, of any intoxicating malt or spirituous liquors. It forbids the sale there in less quantity than one quart, and requires a license so to do of not less than $400, and to be issued for not less than twelve months. It forbids the drinking at the place of sale, and forbids merchants or traders from of sale, and forbids merchants or traders from keeping liquor at their places of sale either to give or sell, whether or not they have a li-cense, and it makes violation a misdemeanor. It excepts the sale and manufacture of domes-tic wines and all wine for sacramental purposes. It does not interfere with licenses granted, until revoked by commissioners. The law was not submitted to vote, but probably comes as near satisfying the best class of whites as is possible to agree upon. There is a great deal of scuppernong wine of the best kind made in Wilkes.

Macon News.

Macon, Ga., October 9.—[Special.]—The Rev. T. R. Kendall, pastor of the Mulberry Street Methodist church, is resting as comfortably today as could be expected, considering the severe nature of the accident that befell him yeseerday afternoon. Dr. Kendall is unable to eat any solid food, and can scarcely talk, and could not possibly laugh. In attempting to mount his horse the animal shied and Dr. Kendall's foot slipped out of the siterup and Dr. Kendall's left jaw was broken by being thrown heavily against the pommel of the saddle. Dr. Moore was very skillful in his treatment of the injury. It will be several weeks ere Dr. Kendall will be able to preach. Mr. Bee Porter, who was also badly hurt yesterday by being thrown from his Texas pony, is resting easy today. Mr. Porter's face was badly brulsed, one tooth knocked out and other injuries inflicted.

A Day of Fun and Sight-Seeing. This will be a tremendous day at Piedmont park.

The whole programme of amusements in. There will be a balloon ascension with parachute leap. There will be the horse show in the morning. There will be magnificent races in the afternoon. At 12 o'clock the Wild West show will give an exhibition of what the Indians, cowboys and Mexicans can do in the way of shooting, riding and lassoing. The dairy show will be in operation, and the grand exposition will be in full blast. The great feature of the day, however, is the fireworks display at night. This is the first display in the great contest between the English and American houses for the championship The Detwiller & Street company will fire its exhibit, beginning at 7:30, and taking two hours. It will simply be magnificent beyond description. Mr. Pain, of London. and his associates, are here and will watch the Americans fire tonight, and will be ready to respond with an English display next week.

We advise every one, who can possibly go to Piedmont park this evening, to go, and see this wonderful pyrotechnic display.

A Gratuitous Insult.

The action of the house of representatives yesterday, in regard to the committee to investigate the claim of the lessees of the Western and Atlantic railroad, in instructing said committee how they should take testimony, is the most remarkable conduct we have ever heard of from a legislative body toward the action of a committee.

It is clearly and emphatically an insult to the committee. This committee was appointed to take testimony, and report. The house thinks the committee is so weak they may be imposed upon and deceived. and hence they throw safeguards around it.

If the senate agrees to the resolution, no decent man ought to remain on the committee, and we don't believe they will.

Nothing is clearer than that we have men in the legislature who are not willing even to trust themselves on a proper settlement of the question involved in this matter. It is very easy to account for demagogues who will come to the surface on an issue like the Olive bill, and who will, as a certain member, who made a demagogical tirade, and when called to account by one of his friends. said: "O. I don't believe what I said, but It suits my constituents." But this is a business matter in which the state is interested, and it is the part of statesmanship to solve it properly, and if the committee is so weak that it needs the guardianship of the house to watch and protect its proceedings, It should never have been appointed.

There is a fact that has come to our knowledge lately in regard to the claim we deem it our duty to give to the public. It comes from Tennessee, and not from the lessees. It is this: Under the lesse act the State road was to be exempt from taxes The state of Tennessee has assessed and collected one hundred and fifty thousand dollars of taxes. This matter, from the first, was brought to the attention of the legislature of Georgia, and no action has been taken in the matter. In the meantime, the taxes being assessed under the Tennessee law against the state of Georgia's property, the fi. fas. have been, for a long ne, paid and transferred to Tomlinson Fort, of Chattanooga, as trustee for the lessees. These fl. fas., we presume, will be all levied on this, property when the lease expires. And this will bring the whole matter of the difference into the Tennessee courts for settlement.

We simply desire to put ourselves on record now, and for all time to come, that we prefer to have the Georgia legislature to pass on this settlement rather than to have a Tennessee court and jury to do it.

If the lessees demand more than they are entitled to, there is enough manhood in the Georgia assembly to tell them so, and there will be no one so ready to echo their sentiments on this line than THE CONSTITU-

On this, and all lines that effect the state, we are for Georgia. Such a question was in the highest degree embarrassing and impertinent. The bishor considered the matter, and then excommunicated the entire eight hundred. The letter of excommunication said nothing about the plate.

After such a lesson the people of Tamaulipas will doubtless mind their own business, and let the bishop alone. They will find it best to let the dead past take care of itself.

Inexpensive investment.

Professor Jenks, who has been studying the Illinois roads, says, that in consequence of the absence of good highways a full load for a two horse team can be hauled only three months in the year, two-thirds of a load for six months and half a load for twelve months. The cost of the extra labor in hauling is over $15,000,000 annually. It is also estimated that bad roads have depreciated Illinois farms in value over $160,-000,000.

This view of the situation should lead the farmers of Georgia to give more attention to a matter which so vitally concerns them. Our state is old enough to begin a system of permanent roadways extending into every productive district. The reads should be smooth and hard at all seasons of the year, in order to relieve trade and transportation of the strain resulting from crowding trade and the movement of the crops into brief periods during the spring and fall.

We must have good country roads, no matter what they cost.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Card From Solicitor-General Howard. WARRENTON, Ga., October 8.-Editors Con stitution: On last Sunday week there appeared in THE CONSTITUTION, credited to the Athens Banner an account of a fight between Judge Lumpkin and Mr. I. C. Van Duzer, of Hartwell. This version of the matter was incorrect, and was unjust to Judge Lumpkin. I wrote to the Banner an account of the Lumpkin. I wrote to the Banner an account of the affair, which was published by that paper. I send you herewith the same statement. Inasmuch as you published the first account given by the Banner, I ask that you publish this also:

On Friday evening, 20th September, Mr. Van Duzer submitted to Judge Lumpkin, then presiding in Hart superior court, a motion for a new trial, one of the grounds of which was that the court of its own motion ruled out certain evidence which was alleged as error against movant. The judge declined to approve that ground of the motion, saying that it was not true that he excluded the evidence "on his own motion." while Mr. Van Duzer insisted to the contrary. The judge adhered to his decision, the ground was rejected, and with that the matter was apparently at an end. Later in the evening, after court had been adjourned for the term, the judge and several gentlemen standing in front of the hotel, Mr. Van Duzer approached the party and asked Judge Lumpkin if he considered the court adjourned, the judge saying that he did. Mr. Van Duzer said, I demand that you retract what you said to me in the courthouse this evening. Judge Lumpkin repiled I decline to do so, and Immediately Mr. Van Duzer struck the judge a glancing blow on the cheek, whereupon the judge rushed at Mr. Van Duzer, striking him when the parties. The attack was made without any other warning to the judge than the language quoted above could give and was as quietly resented as made,

A Correction Corrected, EDITORS CONSTITUTION: I observe in your issue of October 6 that Professor L. H. Charbonnier, professor of physics at Athen, undertakes to correct my correction of Mr. N. J. Hammond's statement of the relative fullness of the curricula of the university and Emory college. The discussion of such a matter is of little value, but it is perhaps well enough, ince the subject is un to set at haps well enough, since the subject is up, to get at the facts in the case clearly and accurately.

It is true, as Professor Charbonnier says, that the cerriculum of Emory and that of the university cannot be well compared in parallel lines Emory adheres for the most part to the regain college course, while the university operates a system of adheres for the most part to the regain college course, while the university operates a system of elective studies leading to various degrees of various values and significance.

In the regular college course terminating in the A. B. degree, it is mostly nearly possible to compare them and ascertain which is the superior curriculum. Let us see what the case is.

It is not to the purpose to count the professors and asy that Emory has more professors in the literature and the university more in the sciences, and therefore the curriculum of the university is the higher. Not how many professors, but how many hours are spent at work determines the amount accomplished.

are spent at work determines the amount accomplished.

In like manner it amounts to nothing to say this course or that occupies so many years. A subject may be studied during a year but only once a week. For example let us examine the following statement of Prof. Chartonnier:

"Dr. Candler! bases his opinion, as to the superiority of Emory's curricullum, upon the fact that whereas for the A B degree Emory requires two ancient and one modern language. Now, from Emory's catalogue for 1883, 1889, now before me, it appears that the course in ancient languages is but a three years' course, that in the modern languages is a two years course. At the university there is no modern languages required, but the course in the ancient languages is a four years' course, continuing to the end of the senior class. In the university the modern language course, French, German, is one of the three years, instead of two, as at Emory, and is taken in the degrees of B Sc. A M and B E."

Now it is true the course in Latin at the university that the course in Latin at the university is the course of the course in Latin at the university is the course of the course in Latin at the university is the course of the course in Latin at the university is the course of the course in Latin at the university is the course of the course in Latin at the university is the course of the course in Latin at the university is the course in Latin at the university is the course of the course in Latin at the university is the course of the course in Latin at the university is the course of the course tions printed in the catalogue of the university. It appears that the seniors recite Latin once a week, the juniors twice a week, the sophomores three times a week, and the freshmen three times Multiplying the number of weeks in the term by these figures and adding the several products together, we find an A B graduale at the university has at graduation attended his Latin class about $25 hours during his four years course. Dealing with the schedule and term of Emory college in the same way, we find an AB graduate at his graduation has attended his Latin class 450 times. In like manner, we find a university man takes 278 is sons in Greek to graduate, while an Emory man takes 450. The hours spent on modern lauguages are about the same. Taking all the departments together, we find an A. B. graduate at Athens graduates after about 2,620 I assons, while an Emory man graduates after about 2,650. This shows the courses about equal, though not altogether similar.

If anything further were required to prove this statement correct, this fact would be sufficient. Students passing from either institution to the other, are admitted on certificate without examination, and to the class with which they would have continued had they remained in the institution left.

I dismiss the subject with this paragraph from

I dismiss the subject with this paragraph from crofessor Carbonnier's communication, modified to util my view of the case. In conclusion, I ask any me interested in the matter to send for the catalogues of both institutions and carefully compare the scope of the education furnished by each the advantages offered on libraries, apparatus and other appliances, then I wish him to decide for himself whether or no the claim that Emory offers superior advantages is not a well founded one.

Why Should the Senate Delay

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: The bill authorizing the lease of the state road has been lying in the senate for weeks without any notice of scion thereupon.

The bill was introduced in the winter session nearly a year ago. The public, their constituents, all over the state have had time to make their wishes known. They spoke authoritatively through the house, and the senate was expected to respect their wishes also in this matter.

all over the state have had time to make their wishes known. They spoke authoritatively through the house, and the senate was expected to respect their wishes also in this matter.

This delay is exciting suspicions, as the reporter of the Augusta Chronicle writes to his paper, that it is understood that the "senate is tearing the house bill all to pieces," and the reporter of the Macon Telegraph asks, "Is Georgia, Stahlman's?" This means somethinge your correspondent disclaims all intention or desire to impagn the motives of the senators in this delay, but a friendly saution is opportune at this time. They are public servants and their action is subject to proper criticism.

The other lease was a delayed concern. It was crowded finally into a midnight job, if not Sunday work. Its methods were so distasteful that a committee, Judge William Reese, chairman, took sworn testimony to settle the matter to public satisfaction. On January 24, 1872, Hon. B. H. Hill used these words to said committee, under oath: "I went to see Governor Bullock on the subject of the lease. He asked me if i thought he was bound to lease the road. He said he didn't want to lease the road then to anybody—that he wanted it to "sook."

That was the expression he made use of. * * I told him a democratic legislature would find in his refusal to accept a bid, if it was properly made, a ground for impeachment. * * He then said he would take the liberty of suggesting General Gordon should be one of the lessee—that General Gordon should be one of the lessee—that General Gordon. Governor Bullock's idea of "soaking" seems to be the idea of the successful parties. On Saturday night the parties came to te ms. Each side was suspicious of the other. The lease as made accomplished these results, "etc. Mr. Hill postitively denied knowledge of this supposed corruption fund. General Holtwas president of the Southwestern road, Captain White was president of the Macon and Western road, whose testimony made the injurious impression on the mind of Judge Reese, as before stated; and they were also bondsmen. Your correspondent feels that the senate owes it to itself to be prempt in this matter. The facts here stated in reference to the former lease are officially recorded. The "soaking" process abruptly terminated in a midnight or Sunday lease, with the results recorded above.

abruptly terminated in a midnight or Sunday lease, with the results recorded above. General Gordon refused a share in the lease, as his undisputed letters go to show. Mr. Stepheus refused to hold his share for reasons known to the public; and members are urging the sale of the road now because they are like Mr. Hill, "suspicious," not of the senate, or the governor, or the house; but because it is possible to "soak" too long, and disgust the general public, and force a midnight or Sunday job of the road.

The question has already been asked by "Mr. Brooks, of Humphries," "What security has the sate that we shall not have the same scandials repeated that pertained to the Bullock lease?"

sate that we shall not have the same scandals related to the Bullock lease?"

The people elected members to this legislature! lease the state road. That is their business, and is high time the 'soaking' process was deciared an end, and their decision given to the world.

The damage was just bad enough to prevent a repair in time for the papers to be printed.

There was but one press in the city npon which the paper could be printed, and that was in The Constitution press room. Just as soon as the proprietors of BHE Constitution heard of the accident they tendered the Journal the entire press room, and the edition came out looking as fresh and bright as its morning contemporary.

Last night Mr. Josiah Carter sent the following letter to THE CONSTITUTION:

ATLANTA, Ga., October 9th.—Constitution Publishing Company.—Gentlemen:—On behalf of the owners and managers of the Evening Journal, I wish to express to you the deep gratitude we feel for your great kindness in allowing us to print to-day's Journal on your press. Our press had no sooner started today than an accident occurred, which made the printing of the paper absolutely impossible. Without your generous help the edition would have been delayed for many hours.

The Races. Yesterday's racing at the exposition was good, and the crowd present enjoyed it immensely.

But all the betters did not, for in the pools in the first race Bessie Wilkes and Tom Lambert sold for $5 each against the field at $2. Bessie Wilkes was the favorite with the crowd, but Lambert won.

Then in the pacing race Joe Tewnson, who sold for $4 against Paddie Ryan at $5, won the

The entries were W. F. Peaks's Norwood Hamiltonia, W. I. Holley's Bessie Wilkes, J. M. Johnson's Five Points and J. M. Mc-Intosh's Tommie Lambert.

After a half dozen attempts, the horses, with the exception of Five Points, got off well together. On the first turn Lambert took the together. On the first turn Lambert took turbead, with Hamiltonia second and Bessie Wilkes third. Bessie Wilkes, however, soon passed Hamiltonia and came in second, Lambert having kept the lead all around and won by nearly two lengths. Five Points was distanced, Time 2:39\frac{1}{2}.

THE SECOND HEAT

was the most exciting of the day. Bessie Wilkes, the Eatonton mare, was the grandstand favorite, and this time the audience looked for her to win. The start was good, all three horses going to the first turn neck and neck, but there Bessie Wilkes broke and fell back three lengths. The audience was disappointed. But Wilkes quickly regained her pace and rushed forward. She passed the half only a length behind Lambert with Hamiltonia a good third. Then the audience applauded. As they turned into the home stretch Wilkes and Lambert were aimest neck and neck, and the people in the audience rose from their seats and cheered wildly for the mare. She gained every step of the string and had it been twenty yards further would have perhaps won. As it was, Lambert only won the race by a nose. Time 2:35.

was not so exciting. Lambert got the lead and kept it to the finish, the mare having broken twice. She, however, pulled up again on the home stretch and came in a good second.

FIRST HEAT.

In the first heat Joe Townson took the lead at the start. Little Ben followed, but Paddie soon passed him and went by the half a good second. Townson, however, kept the lead to the home stretch, when Little Ben went ahead but broke and fell back to third, at the distance flag. Townson winning with Paddie Second. Time 2:33.

THE SECOND HEAT was a walk over for fownson, he having taken the lead at the start and held it, with Paddie second. Time 2:37½.

THE THIRD HEAT was almost a repetition of the first, Little Ben having forged to the front, but broke and lost again, Townson winning with Paddie second. Time 2:37½.

ENTRIES FOR TODAY'S RACES.

There will be two trotting races today. The entries are:

opened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, and the exhibition was witnessed by a large number of people. This is one of the most interesting features of the exposition. Upwards of 150 fine blooded animals have already been entered, and they present a very pretty spectacle as they are ridden and driven back and forth in front of the grand stand, showing off their several styles and qualities.

This morning at 10 o'clock sharp the horse show will be continued, and those who miss it will miss a part of the great exposition that is well worth seeing. Every animal that will be shown is a beauty, and the lovers of horseflesh should be out on time by all means.

machinery in machinery hall will be ratifing away.

One of the great attractions yesterday was the making of plug tobacco at the exhibit if Stoitz & Lisberger by six trained hands from their factory in Danville, Va. There were two negro women and four negro men, and all during their work they kept up a reries of old plantation songs, just as they do when in the factory. They were selected by the managers on account of their splendid volces, and their singing yesterday kept the exhibit surrounded all day by an interested throng.

There is a unique exhibit on the outside of the machinery halt, just near the east end. It is in the shape of a grave, surrounded by a neat fron fence. The grave is decorated with stalks of growing cotton, and on the headstone are inscribed these words: "A last tribute to jute bagging, 1889."

"This is great," said SolicitorFrank O'Byran yesterday, as he stood with h s coat off, ready to throw a baseball at a negro's head stuck through a hole. "Only a nickle for three throws. Well, I'll break that negro's head before I'm broke."

Then he threw three times, and three times more, and three times again, but not a ball went within a foot of the negro.

"That niggers got 'conjure' on his head, Frank," said Mr. Grady, as he armed himself, "you can't hit him. Here, you get out of the way and I'll show you how to throw." But Mr. Grady's balls also went wide of the

ON NEW GOODS - WHAT TO BUY

Read This List of Good Things to Eat,

It is a matter of general interest to housewives husbands and the public generally to know where to get something good to eat during the exposition. We will announce that we have just received the first arrival of fancy French prunes, large sizes, small Turkish prunes 4 pounds for 25c, fancy quality dried apples, sancy quality dried apples, sancy quality dried apricots and plums We have just received more of those uncomparable. Oyster Boston butter crackers, "The Extons," we are the only house in Atlanta keeping them. We have also fresh invoice of those fresh Saratoga chips, cannot be excelled. That fancy quality sileed cooked course beging per pound. Do you like green cooked corned beeflöc per pound. Do you like green peas, dried green peas, we have them, they make an excellent dish. We have small uncanvased Dove hams and receive them twice a week fresh from the packers. Fresh sugar-cured breakfast bacon and tongue keep their places among select meats, and is a principal article of sale and consumption. We are headquarters on all fancy fresh crackers, there are headquarters on all fancy fresh crackers, there is no hOuse in the country that can show such a select array of first class crackers. Our sugar, granulated sugar, the best in the world sold at our store 11 pounds for $1, so come over to our store, buy your months' groceries from us and yon will save fully 20 per cent. We have received our new maple syrup there if none in the city like it. We have thousands of other good things, and we wish we had space to enumerate them, but we have not, and we cordially invite you to visit our store and see what we have. We give more fancy rice, grits, sugar, prunes, hame, Eagle milk, etc., for $1 than any house in Atlants, and as you are obliged to eat, and read when lanta, and as you are obliged to eat, and read when you see this ad, you will throw away hard carned money if you do not come over and get our prices: We are confident we have the fluest flour in Atanta. NEW YORK STOCKS Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange. NEW YORK, October 9.—The stock market to day was much stronger in tone than for any day during the past two weeks and material advances market was buying by London houses, though these purchases did not have much effect on the on hour. The market opened 1/8@3/8 highe than last night's close. It was a see-saw game in the early part of the day, but the news was in the main favorable, and money eased off to below the legal rate, so that later in the day the upward movement made fair progress. There was some realizing on profits accrued during the day in the last hour, but the market recovered its tone toward the close, whech was active and strong at, or near the best prices of the day. Declines tonight are very few in number, and a loss of 1½ per cent in San Francisco preferred, was the only one of im-portance, while Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and St. Louis is up 2, Louisville and Nashville and cotton oil 1% each. 1-64d. Spot cotton was in fair demand at yester-day's prices. The sales were 12,000 bales, of which 11,000 bales were of American product. There was more activity and excitement in our market today than for any day since the culmination of the big built movement last April. The trading was unusually heavy and of a feverish and irregular temperament. The sales for the day aggregated 139,500 bales; and at the close all the options showed a marked improvement in value over yesterday's final figures. The general opening was quiet and barely steady, with the first prices generally one point lower, but after the first call the market became steadier and showed a disposition to improve point lower, but after the first call the market became steadier and showed a disposition to improve on some quiet covering of shorts by the board room scalpers. Towards noon the report that the monthly statement of the agricultural bureau on the cotton crop, due tomorrow, would be unfavorable, started a general buying movement, which assumed most aggressive proportions as the day progressed. The fluctuations were wide and sharp, and the shorts became so alarmed over the situation that they could not cover their contracts half fast chough, and it did not take long for the bulls to mark up the prices 10 points for all the options. There seemed to be an unusually active demand for the December and January options, and these months were to be an unusually active demand for the December and January options, and these months were the strongest. In the late trading the longs began to realize on their purchases made early last week, but even their heavy offerings were quickly snapped up, so at the close the final prices ruled firm within 1@2 points off the highest figures for the day. As compared with last night, October is 6 points better, November 5, December 10 and January 11 better 12 and 12 uary 11, while the other options are 9@10 points higher. The apprehensions that the bureau report would be unfavorable tomorrow was the sole cause for the advance, but should the report come in favorable, or even slightly unfavorable, the chances are that the market will undergo a sharp reaction, in which event the cotton bought today will proba-bly be tumbled out as rapidly as it was bought. It appears from our private advices that the damage to the crops by the frosts has been greatly exagger ated. Until the bureau report is announced, it is quite difficult to say how the market will act in the immediate future. Spot cotton was not materially affected by the advance in futures, but ruled steady at unchanged prices, with sales of 375 bales. The receipts at the ports today aggregated 37,252 bales, as JNO. S, ERNEST,

NEW ORLEANS, October 9-[Special]—Glenny & Violett, in their cotton circular today, say: As we stated yesterday, believing in considerable short interests in all the market and the disposition to cover upon unfavorable information, the advance today was another evidence of the unwillingness to stay short with additional reports about frost, which our New York telegram says caused free covering there, which, together with the buying of a promi nent exporting house, caused a sharp advance. There was a killing frost on the Atlantic coast last night as low as Columbia, South Carolina. This market closes 4@5 points better than last night, but 2 points lower than the highest of the day, some realizing causing a slight decline. Liverpool is no lower on spots with increased sales of 12,000 bales, and futures closed firm 1-64d better than yesterday. Our information is that new mills are starting daily in the Lancashire district, which should mean a steady spot demand for the balance of this month, especially as we think parties under contract for October shipment have been waiting for lower prices during the month before buying, of which there is now not so much probability as a few days since, and they may come into the market freely soon. Receipts at the ports today, while larger than expected this morning, were not so large as the estimate of the week led us to expect. We have to say the same of interior sellers as yester day that they are not offering so freely, and perhaps are awaiting the bureau report tomorrow before committing themselves in the way of prices. Our impression is that the bureau average will be between 52 and 83.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, October 9—The speculative side of the wheat market was rather a surprise today, ruldull and weak early and very strong and more active later. Traders were rather puzzled at the action of the market. Operators no doubt found themselves short toward the close and vere anxious to cover. Some foreign buying of futures were mentioned. A prominent local trader was the principal seller around 83e for December, and another large operator, together with some other local bull contingents, took the offerings. The market opened easy and prices receded 100 market advanced 100 more and closed about 100 ingher than yesterday.

An easier which the market nighter than yesterday. ruled steady for some time with a later rally of $40 more and closed about $46 it is ighor than yesterday. An easier feeling was manifested in corn, transactions being at lower prices within a narrow range. There was considerable pressure to sell May, this future receiving the most attention, there being one trade of 100,000 bushels at $3%c. The temper of the local crowd was bearish, and offerings at times were quite heavy. There was also quite free selling by receivers. A good many orders were on the market to change nearer months to May at selling by receivers. A good many orders were on the market to change nearer months to May at about 2½c premium for the latter month. The market opened at about yesterday's closing quotations, and under fiberal offerings sold off ½c, railied ½c, became firmer and closed about the same as yesterday.

The oats market showed further depression today under large offerings by longs, who unloaded freely. The result was another ½c drop in prices, which carried prices cown to the lowest touched in a decade. Cash and October receded to 18½615½c, and at one time May sold as low as 21½c.

Little interest was manifested in the market for hog products, and the feeling was comparatively steady. Outside orders were scarce, and local operators were not inclined to do much business. Some meas purk was accepted on to close trades. Prices for the leading articles exhibited very little.

WHO WILL GET IT.

Grocer on Peachtree Street Offer 60 For the Best Lonf of Bread Made of

r. J. J. Duffy, one of the most popular Mr. J. J. Duffy, one of the most popular retail grocers in the country, comes to the front this morning and offers $25 for the best loaf of bread made out of Duffy's Superlative flour, and exhibited at the coming Piedmont exposition. This is quite a liberal offer, and will, no doubt stimulate a great many people in the culinary line. The flour that Mr. Duffy has been selling—Duffy's Superlative—is said by those who have tried it, to be the very best. This being the case, Mr. Duffy, in making this offer to the ladies of Atlanta, will doubtlest secure a large patronage for his flour. It is to be remembered that this loaf of bread is to be made only from Duffy's Superlative, and no other flour will be brought into competition. Mr. Duffy is not afraid to compete with other flours, but feeling that his flour is the best of all, offers $25 as a prize to the one making the finest loaf of bread out of the content of the one making the mission that it.

It might be added in this connection that Mr. Duffy has been styled one of the leading retail grocers of Georgia. He keeps everything that is usually kept in a grocery store, and sells his goods at a reasonable profit. Being located on one of the finest streets in the city, Peachtree, he has a fine trade among the best class of people.

Now young ladies and old ladies, all who cook and all who eat, remember that Mr. Duffy offers the handsome sum of $25 for the best loaf of bread made out of Duffy's Superlative flour, exhibited at the exposition comlative flour, exhibited at the exposition company. The company will appoint judges to decide the matter.

The Human Face. The Human Face.

Faces are as varied as forest leaves. No two are exact duplicates, and rarely are both sides of the same face alike in measurements and angles. "I believe my face is crooked," said a bright, intelligent lady, as she tried on a pair of spectacles; and so it was, though she seemed to have been blissfully ignorant of it before. Now, care is necessary to prematithe rectacles from making this groupedness. vent the spectacles from making this crookedness more apparent, and even making a face of regular contour seem irregular, Special attention in ob-serving dimensions of frame and in fitting it tastefully is taken at Hawkes' Optical Depot, under Kimball house, 19 Decatur street, Atlanta, Ga. But "Hawkes' Crystalized Lenses" are not sold on the Exposition grounds. Remember the place, 19 Decatur street, under Kimball house. No charge for fitting.

Sarah Bernhardt Is coming to America, and great will be the enthusiasm aroused amongst her admirers. But we have our own bright star, Mary An derson, who will continue to bear off the palm in the dramatic, as does "LUCY HINTON" in the great tobacco world.

A Card. We desire to return thanks to Chief Joyner and the fire department for the noble work that they did in their timely discretion in extinguishing the small blaze that occurred in our store on Tuesday night, which might have resulted in a big conflagration but for their efforts.

We also desire to express our thanks to Chief Connoily and the police department for protection afforded us during the excitement occasioned by the alarm.

How pleasant is a fire these cool days! And you can always find one in the Aldine fire place in the main ullding at the exposition. Step in and get warmed by the best heating and ventitating apparatus ever made. The Aldine does more and better work with-a given quantity of fuel than anything ever invented. Come and see for yourself how nearly perfect the Fire Place is. It has no equal, nor even a competitor.

200,000 Estey Organs.

200,000 Estey Organs have been manufactured Think of it. Try and realize what it means. It is one ergan finished every week rince Noah built

Do you suppose it would be possible, with a sufficient number of men, to build a fine Reed Organ all compite in seven hours? No doubt it would, but it would certainly require a large force of skilled men to do it. Now, if the Estey Organ company had taken so 'ong a time as seven hours they would have had to begun before Columbus discovered America in order to complete 200,000 organs in 1888 They have actually been building their famous Reed Organs forty years, averaging about one organ in thirty-five minutes. And not building them only

They have sold them. No other organ can show such sales. What does it prove? Simply that the ESTEY Organ is the faorite, that it is the best value for the money in vested, that it has been the choice with the majority of persons who have purchased organs.

You can't make any mistake ut choosing an ES-TEY, for the great majority is with you. Go to the ESTEY Organ Co.'s ware-rooms, corner Marietta and Broad streets, Atlanta, Ga., and you can be suited in price and terms. Ga. sept 18—tf in America Tonight.

The display of fire works tonight at the exposition will be the grandest display ever made in the country. It is the opening of the great international contest, and Detwiler & Street make America's entry. They state under their own signatures that they will make the grandest dispay they have ever made. The two firms will be put to their mettle; this is a battle for supremacy in the fireworks business. And to the winner the future business of the south will belong. No man, woman or child who can raise the money should fail to see the display tonight. The skies will simply be emblazoned with fire of all colors, and the art of pyrotechny show all of its greatest

The Grau Opera Company.

This favorite company will visit Atlanta next week, beginning Monday, and will give four night performances and two matiness. It is certainly a pleasure to amounce their coming, and especially to chronicle the promises of Manager Grau, who says that he brings with him a company a great deal better than any he had before, a double chorus and a full orchestra. Another good point is that the reperioire is composed of all new operas already famous and recognized as gems both by the critics and by the public. The company will open in the "Briganda," one of the great successes of the New York Casino, and of which many of our citizens have heard reports from those who have seen it in New York.
